werewolves
witches vampires and more...

Greetings, my followers and loyal fans!

Welcome to the first issue of my art magazine, where I share my passion for drawing and painting with you and showcase my latest and greatest creations ,

I am so excited to launch this project!

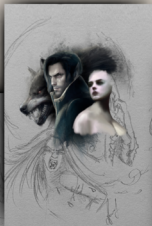

First of all, I would like to thank my fans and supporters for their encouragement and feedback.

You are the reason why I keep creating and improving my skills. Your comments and messages mean a lot to me and inspire me to keep going.

You may wonder what inspired me to start this magaz[ine. Well, I have always loved sharing my art with you, but I felt that I needed a more structured and consistent way of doing so. I also wanted to challenge myself to improve my writing skills, wich are not my forte. I usually express myself through my art. Well, sometimes I enjoy writing poetry which I will post in this magazin too..

This issue covers the months of December 2023 and January 2024, which have been very fruitful for me as an artist.

In this issue, you will find a variety of art pieces, but but the main theme is werewolves, witches and vampires. And as a first example here is a compilation of all three of them, from the sketch till the colored result. and a book cover with this illustration.

Book cover is available on my website
<https://fantasy-art-z.com/book-covers.html>
along with many other covers and all information about commissions.

WEREWOLVES

And here are some pieces of werewolves art. Those mythical creatures that can shift from human to wolf form, and vice versa. I have always been fascinated by them, and I decided to explore their nature and appearance in my art.

I wanted to capture the essence of their transformation, the struggle between their human and animal sides, the beauty and the horror of their metamorphosis. Did I achieved my goal? You be the judge. I hope you enjoy my werewolves art as much as I enjoyed making it.

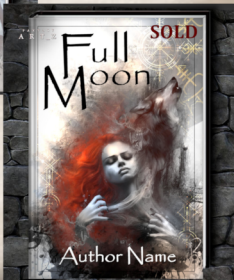

Here are another two covers (that have been sold already). Female werewolves and their transformation.

Painful and gorgeous in the same time.

By the way, did you know that the Irish werewolf is different from the European werewolf, as it is really NOT a monster at all? Unlike its continental cousins, this shapeshifter is the guardian and protector of children, wounded men and lost persons.

According to some ancient sources, the Irish werewolves were even recruited by kings in time of war. Known in their native land as the faoladh or conroicht, their predatory behaviour is typical of the common wolf, not beneath the occasional nocturnal raid.

Here are another two covers that I have created for this period of time. The story for this books are not necessarily to be about werewolves. It can be about witches, hunters, adventures, fantasy...

The minor changes can be done for any illustration to suit your story. Do you need different kind of face, hair color? I can make it.

The beautiful deadly creatures that subsists by feeding on the vital essence generally in the form of blood of the living.

As with all my art you can purchase prints of this illustration and/or a book cover

A creature of beauty and death, you defy the laws of nature.

You hold me in your arms at night, and fill me with your rapture.

Your kiss draws out my lifeblood, and I feel my pulse grow weak.

The darkness and the silence, are the only things I seek.

But you vanish with the dawn, and I am left with nothing but pain.

I yearn for your return, and your kiss of ecstasy again.

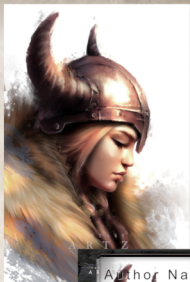

Mirror Dimentions

I am fascinated with mirrors and the worlds they hide behind their silver surfaces.

Have you ever tryed to look inside one at night with the only light from a small candle? Are there beasts or benevolent creatures that are watching you from the depths?

And the last illustration in this issue is a "Viking Girl".

Let me know what you think!

I really appreciate your support and encouragement, and I look forward to sharing more of my art with you in the future. Until then, stay creative and curious, and don't let the full moon scare you!

I hope to hearing from you and seeng your reactions.

Thank you for your support and stay tuned for the next issue!

(a little bit of spoiler- next issue going to feature mermaids.)
